

Sun West: Reverse Mortgage Satisfaction Continues To Be High

For Immediate Release

CERRITOS, Calif./EWorldWire/July 23, 2008 --- According to a 2007 AARP survey, borrower opinion of the reverse mortgage program continues to be outstanding. The survey reported that 93 percent of those polled said a reverse mortgage had a positive impact on their lives[1].

A significant portion of many seniors' assets is in their home equity. The 2005 American Housing Survey indicates that an average senior's home value is more than five times his or her annual income[2]. A reverse mortgage meets an important need among seniors by allowing them to tap this home equity and supplement their income.

Traditional mortgages rely heavily on credit history and income to qualify an applicant. With a reverse mortgage, the only requirements are that seniors are 62 or older and own and live in their home. The loan isn't due until the last borrower leaves the home. Borrowers can never owe more than the value of their home.

"A reverse mortgage is one of the greatest things to help people in their later years enjoy quality in their lives," says Alpha Williams, a reverse mortgage borrower from Southern California. Once Ms. Williams took out her loan, she was able to eliminate her monthly mortgage payments and take a long awaited vacation. Williams is part of a growing number of seniors who have benefitted from a reverse mortgage, and adds that the loan "allows you to stop, breathe and enjoy."

The reverse mortgage presents an exciting opportunity for many seniors who wish to secure their financial peace of mind. Interested seniors should talk to an experienced lender to learn more about the federally insured reverse mortgage program. Sun West Mortgage has over 27 years of experience in the mortgage banking industry, with an ongoing commitment to educate and enrich the lives of seniors.
